

Former Official Links Moore to Television Deal

By NEIL MacNEIL, United Press Staff Correspondent

WASHINGTON (UP)—Former Chairman Harry A. McDonald of the Securities & Exchange Commission said today an unsuccessful applicant for Miami TV Channel 10 once told him Col. George Gordon Moore is "working against me."

But McDonald denied he ever told the applicant, Col. A. Frank Katzenline, that he would "pull off" Moore from the case.

McDonald, who also used to be Reconstruction Finance Corp. Administrator, told a House investigating subcommittee the report that he got into the Channel 10 controversy was "positively fabricated from nothing."

Moore, brother-in-law of Mrs. Mamie Eisenhower, has been accused of "engineering" the successful application of National Airlines before the Federal Communications Commission for the multi-million-dollar TV channel. Moore has denied the charge under oath.

Met Hardy on Plane

John S. Knight, newspaper editor and publisher and a friend of Katzenline, testified that Katzenline told him before the FCC ruled on the Channel 10 case that he thought his chances of winning the award "were not too good."

"From what I was able to learn from the trade, that was confirmed," Knight said.

Subcommittee Chairman Owen Harris (D-Ark.) asked Knight on Jan. 6, 1958, with Alexander Hardy, vice president and attorney for National Airlines, to which Katzenline previously had referred.

Knight said he and Hardy met aboard a National Airlines plane flying from Washington to Miami and during the conversation they discussed the Channel 10 case, as well as Knight's application for Continued on Page Three

House Refuses to Go Along on a 5c Stamp

WASHINGTON (UP)—The House refused today to accept the Senate-approved plan to charge 5 cents for mailing out-of-town letters.

Instead, it sent the postage rate bill to a conference committee to iron out differences between Senate and House versions.

The actions were taken on a routine motion by Chairman Tom Murray (D-Tenn.) to disagree with Senate changes in the original House bill. No objections were raised.

The House bill, passed last year, called for a 4-cent rate on both local and out-of-town letters and other postage rate increases to bring in a total of 527 million dollars annually.

The Senate last month hiked the charge for out-of-town letters to 5 cents and tacked on a 322-million-dollar-a-year pay raise for the nation's 519,000 postal workers.

Postage increases under the Senate version would amount to 732 million dollars annually.

Storm Drives Eastward With Snows

By UNITED PRESS

A storm system that unloaded road-blocking snows in portions of Colorado and the plains states drove eastward today, bringing a threat of heavy snows to parts of Virginia and West Virginia.

A near blizzard with snows accumulating from four to seven inches was expected in the mountains of West Virginia where about 1,000 volunteers sought a 3-year-old boy lost since Monday afternoon.

The boy, John Wayne McKinney, disappeared from his farm home near Point Pleasant, W. Va., wearing only a shirt and overalls. National Guardsmen, and students from Ohio University at Athens, Ohio, police and neighbors aided in the search.

Weathermen said the eastern snowstorm, which began early today, was expected to pile heavy snows throughout the higher elevations of southern West Virginia and southwest Virginia.

Faubus Thinks Tax Reduction Won't Help

LITTLE ROCK (UP)—Arkansas Gov. Orval Faubus said Monday he believes public works programs and help to the unemployed and needy would have more effect on the national recession than a tax cut.

"While a tax cut is needed for the overburdened taxpayer, it will have little if any effect on the national economy," he said.

Faubus proposed that the government meet the recession by enlarging unemployment insurance, old age security and welfare programs. But he said he thinks a controlled public works program would be the best. He said such a program would find work for people and at the same time build needed public facilities.

Arkansas is not financially able to take on such programs, Faubus said. It would help keep down their costs, however, by doing the administrative work, he added.

The governor said the recession is being felt in Arkansas.

"I have been told of layoffs, plants closing down and a general downward trend in business is the state. The recession is with us in no uncertain terms," Faubus said.

Tax Can't Be Based on Income

LITTLE ROCK (UP)—A city cannot levy a gross earnings tax based on income, according to an opinion by the attorney general's office.

The decision said occupation licenses are legal, provided two-thirds or more of a council approved an ordinance setting up the tax. But cities cannot levy a tax based on the amount of business, the ruling said.

Mayor Jack Gardner of Glenwood asked for the opinion.

Sun-powered Radio Can Last Years

CHICAGO (UP)—A sun-powered radio transmitter carried by America's Vanguard satellite should be able to keep operating at least 300 years under space conditions, its developers report.

The transmitter, the first ever developed employing the sun's rays, is one of two carried by the newly launched satellite. Previous Russian and American earth satellites have carried battery-operated transmitters capable of operating for only a few weeks.

The transmitter was developed by the Semiconductor Division of the Hoffman Electronics Corp., Evanston, Ill., in conjunction with the U. S. Army Signal Corps Laboratories at Ft. Monmouth, N. J.

This transmitter converts the sun's energy directly into electricity by means of solar energy cells, wafer thin discs of highly purified silicon diffused with tiny quantities of arsenic and boron.

The cells are installed in a "solar converter" mounted on the outside of the satellite to trap the energy from the sun and convert it into electricity, Hoffman Electronics Vice President M. E. Paradise said.

Since sunlight contains about 1,400 watts of electrical power per square yard of solar cell collecting area above the earth's atmosphere, he added, a one-yard square solar converter produces 140 watts of power.

Parents Asked to Help Child Pick Subjects

This week marks the beginning of preliminary classification for the 1958-59 school year, according to Principal Julius Adams.

A list of all subjects available in the four upper grades will be given to each student and parents should go over the courses with their children.

The required subjects are four years of English, one year of Math, two years of science, three years of social studies with two years of P. E., band or Glee Club. New subjects added this year are Occupations, Arkansas History and Government, American Government and World Geography.

The purpose of this program is to get parents to advise students on their school courses with the future in view. For instance, a student with an eye to the science or engineering fields should take all the math and science courses offered.

In many cases when students are left to pick their own subjects, the easiest courses are taken. And many times this seriously handicaps a student going on to college.

The classification must be signed by both the student and his parents and returned to the school. No changes will be made in the schedule selected after June 1.

Officials Now Talking About Rocket to Moon

WASHINGTON (UP)—High defense officials said the United States, now that it has two satellites spinning around the globe, may announce plans to send a rocket to the moon "soon."

Meanwhile a high-ranking scientist said Russia may have halted its satellite launchings in hopes of lulling Americans into complacency in the space race.

Another "guess" as to why the Kremlin has sent no satellites aloft since Nov. 3 is that Moscow may be seeking to spring a major triumph by shooting a man into space and bringing him back safely to earth.

Lafayette Orbit

The grapefruit-sized Vanguard 1, second made-in-U.S.A. moon, circled the globe in a lofty orbit running from about 407 miles to some 2,513 miles above the earth.

Because of its height — far above Sputniks 1 and 11 and Explorer 1 — scientists predicted a life for it of possibly as much as 20 years or more.

Dr. John P. Hagen, head of the Navy's Project Vanguard which after many setbacks fired the radio-equipped satellite into space Monday, said its solar-powered radio, one of two aboard, will probably continue to transmit signals "indefinitely" — as long as it stays aloft.

Hagen said the next Vanguard test will be an effort to put a fully-instrumented 20-inch satellite when but indicated it would be within the next two or three weeks. A second Army Explorer is slated to be fired next week.

Moon Shot Approved

Army Secretary Wilber M. Brucker indicated Sunday night that the Advance Research Projects Agency, top Defense Department agency handling space developments, had approved a shot to the moon. But Brucker did not say who would do the shooting or with what.

Hagen said Monday's firing indicates the upper stages of the three-stage Vanguard could be added to "any powerful booster" and shot to or around the moon. Both the Army and Air Force have missiles they are plugging for the initial phase of the moon shot.

An Air Force spokesman, asked if the Air Force feels "out in the cold" now that the Army and Navy have satellites circling the earth, said the Air Force confidently expects to put the first man in space.

Emergency Loans for Frozen Crops

Emergency loans are available in Hempstead County to eligible farmers whose crops were damaged by rains and the freeze, W. M. Sparks said today.

Funds can be advanced for the purchase of seed, feed, fertilizer, insecticides, fuel, hired labor, machinery, repairs and other essential farm operating and family living expenses. When necessary, funds may be included to replace worn out equipment. Funds may be included to pay a year's taxes and interest, due or about to become due, on debts secured by liens on chattel or real property. Funds may also be included to pay an amount for depreciation not to exceed 10 percent of the value of essential equipment mortgaged to other lenders or 15 percent of the debt, whichever is the lesser. Applications can be made at the Farmers Home Administration office on the 4th floor of the courthouse in Hope.

To be eligible a farmer must be primarily engaged in farming and have reasonable prospects for success in the farming operations he plans to carry on. In addition he must have suffered a substantial loss from excessive rainfall, flood or freezing temperatures in 1957, and must be unable to obtain the credit he needs from other sources.

Would Cut Taxes If Recession Fails to Fade

By WILLIAM J. EATON, United Press Staff Correspondent

WASHINGTON (UP)—President Eisenhower promised today to take any "desirable and necessary action"—including cutting taxes—to help the nation make a "healthy economic recovery."

The "administration is doing and will do everything that it can constructively do to bring about a resurgence of employment and production," the President said. He said he is "fully dedicated" to attainment of such a goal.

And, he said, his confidence in the ability of the American people to come out of the recession and attain a higher level of prosperity "is as strong as my belief in the greatness and destiny of our beloved country."

"This administration will continue to undertake, by executive action or proposal to the Congress, any measure—including tax reduction if, after consultation with congressional leaders, such action should prove desirable and necessary that will assist healthy economic recovery," the President said.

Meets Congressional Leaders

The President pledged the action in a speech to 1,700 Republican women attending the sixth annual GOP Women's Conference.

He spoke shortly after discussing the economic situation for two hours and 20 minutes with Republican congressional leaders.

Senate GOP Leader William F. Knowland predicted after the White House meeting that it would be at least two months before the administration makes a decision on cutting taxes.

Knowland flatly disputed a statement by Sen. Edward Martin (R-Pa.) that specific plans—including cutting withholding taxes in half—were discussed at the White House meeting.

"The President cited four 'sound and timely actions the government already has taken to fight the recession and restore prosperity,' he listed.

—Easing of credit by the Federal Reserve.

—"Numerous" administration steps to stimulate home building.

His plan, to be announced within the next few days, for a temporary extension of the period for payment of unemployment compensation benefits to idle workers.

—Speed-up in "useful and needed" public works construction, such as post offices, water resources and reclamation projects, and highways.

But he reiterated his strong opposition to "make-work . . . slow-moving" public works projects. Such an approach, he said, "tends to supplant rather than supplement private activity." He said it also dulls private initiative, builds up a huge bureaucracy and "threatens to turn a temporary recession into a long-term economic headache."

"The hardships to individuals and their families of a temporary downturn in employment are bad enough," he said.

"But this administration is not going to be panicked by alarmists into activities that would actually make those hardships not temporary but chronic."

The President denounced a bill approved by the Senate last week that would freeze farm price supports. He charged it was "a 100 degree turn in the wrong direction."

And that direction, he added, "can only lead to chronic controls and perpetual troubles for the farmer."

Would Cut Taxes

Secretary Robert B. Anderson today outlined alternative administration plans for a possible tax cut, including cutting the withholding tax in half, a Republican senator said after a White House meeting.

Anderson discussed the plans for 30 minutes at the weekly meeting of President Eisenhower with GOP congressional leaders.

Sen. Edward Martin (R-Pa.), senior GOP member of the Senate Finance Committee, told reporters that "no conclusion" was reached on when and if to put any of the plans into effect.

The senator said Anderson discussed various alternatives, including a reduction of excise and business income taxes.

Martin said another alternative was to reduce personal income taxes in the high brackets, along with lowering business income taxes, to encourage capital investment and long range growth of business.

Warns Against Delay

Martin said he believed that if a tax cut is decided upon, it might be a combination of the various alternatives.

"Meanwhile, Everett Kassalow, a union economist, said organized labor may call for raising individual income tax exemptions from $600 to $800 unless Congress acts immediately to cut taxes.

Kassalow, research director for the AFL-CIO industrial union department, said delay in tax reduction would only mean that more drastic measures would be required later. He spoke to rank-and-file delegates to a United Rubber Workers legislative conference.

The AFL-CIO last week proposed that exemptions be boosted to $700 to counter the recession.

Other economic highlights:

—Assistant Secretary of Labor Newell Brown said the current downturn should not cause "serious concern for the long pull."

He said in a speech that unemployment is now concentrated almost entirely in manufacturing industries. He said trade, finance, and other "large and important industries are doing extremely well" with higher employment than a year ago.

Industrial Production Slips

Atty. Gen. William P. Rogers dismissed the downturn as a "slight recession." He said every administration has to have "temporary setbacks."

President Eisenhower was reported to be considering a request that governors call special sessions of state legislatures to increase unemployment compensation.

—The Federal Reserve Board said U. S. industrial production last month skidded to a three-year low.

The President was also slated to address the sixth annual Republican National Women's Conference this afternoon.

Telegrams to Governors

In telegrams sent Monday to the nine members of the Executive Committee of the National Governors Conference, the President said he "would like very much" to confer with them on a "limited and temporary extension of the duration of unemployment benefits" to jobless workers.

Presidential Press Secretary James C. Hagerty said Eisenhower hopes to lay before Congress Thursday to Friday his own plan for federal action to improve unemployment pay.

The administration was reported to have planned to ask lawmakers to give jobless workers 13 weeks of federally-financed benefits in addition to the varying amounts they now received. Officials said today, however, there has been "no decision" yet on this plan.

Opposition From NAM

There has been considerable opposition to the President's call for federal payments for unemployment. This has long been an exclusively state function, with the federal government helping only with administrative costs. Seen powerful groups, including the National Assn. of Manufacturers, have urged the federal government to stay out of the jobless pay field.

Informants said an announcement of the administration's plan was likely at the conclusion of the governors' meeting.

The meeting is set for 9 a.m.

MAKES YOU WANT TO CRY when you think how many families need kitchen phones—and don't have them. Instead of grabbing the baby and dashing off to another room every time the phone rings, wouldn't it be easier to take calls right in the kitchen? Let the baby go on eating while you talk. Kitchen phones come in 9 beautiful colors or standard black. For color, there's a one-time-only charge. Call the telephone business office.

Scenic Tour Made By Mrs. Graydon Anthony and Mrs. Loyd Kinard Mrs. Graydon Anthony and Mrs. Loyd Kinard returned Monday morning from scenic bus tour with approximately 180 ladies and Mayor Haskell Hay and Mr. Nesler with the Chamber of Commerce in Texarkana.

The group left Texarkana in four chartered buses on Friday morning arriving in Natchez, Miss., where they visited five historical homes. Mrs. Billy Moses, daughter in law of Mr. and Mrs. Frozie Moses, former residents of Hope was one of the hostesses in the Dunleith Home. She was most gracious to the Hope ladies and invited them for cake and coffee in the old historical home, which was quite an honor. On Friday evening the group saw the "Confederate Pageant" in which the twin sons of Mr. and Mrs. Billy Moses appeared. They stayed overnight in homes of historical nature that had been converted into motels.

The beautiful Bellingrath Gardens and homes were toured on Saturday. The entire group stayed at the Hotel Admiral Semmes in Mobile, Alabama on Saturday night. On their way to New Orleans they visited the Jefferson Davis home and Shrine and went through many curio shops. Then Sunday morning they had lunch at the famous Gus Stevens Restaurant and Lounge. Four sightseeing buses took them on a tour of New Orleans where they saw many historical buildings.

Leaving New Orleans at 8 o'clock Sunday night, tired, but elated over the wonderful trip, the Hope ladies reported a grand time.

North Has Big Problem on Integration

LITTLE ROCK (UP)—The chairman of a local citizens committee said Monday night President Eisenhower's office told the group Little Rock does not have integration problems in comparison to some Northern cities.

Walter C. Guy, the chairman, made the statement at a Young Business Men's Association meeting. He did not identify who in the President's office made the comment.

"Little Rock has no problems compared to what is going on at New York, Philadelphia, Los Angeles and other cities," Guy quoted the White House member.

Guy said the committee hired professional pollsters last fall to check on the feeling about school integration. The study showed 88 per cent of the white people here favor removal of Negro students from Central High and 85 per cent of the Negroes wanted them to remain. Guy said.

Guy predicted if the federal district court refused to grant a delay in integration here troops or their counterpart will have to be kept at Central High indefinitely. The school board met with the committee October 17, Guy said, and the committee asked the board then to petition for a delay in integration. He said the board decided not to do so because the court might make its integration order more stringent, the gradual plan of integration was flexible, and the teachers at the school had been through an ordeal.

Little Rock city police are not able to take over at Central High, Guy said, either from experience or numbers.

The committee did not meet with Mrs. L. C. Bates, state chair of the Citizens' Association for the Advancement of Colored People or the opposing group, Guy said. He explained the committee felt there was no use talking to either.

Gina Wins Suit

TORIN, Ialy (UP)—A Torin court of appeals has ordered a yemmouth firm to pay movie queen Gina Lollobrigida $1,600 damages for using a picture of her for publicity purposes without her permission. The picture, which showed Gina sipping a product of the firm, was published in two magazines.

It becomes progressively easier for a girl to change her hair color temporarily. This blonde (left) wondered how she would look with red-blond hair. She simply sprayed her hair with a new instant color curl spray, knowing it would wash out with her next shampoo. But she liked the color so well that she decided to keep it. So, she used a temporary cream color rinse on her hair (center). With this rinse, the color will last a week or until she shampoos it out. And she's ready to go in her new spring bonnet (right). She feels that the vivid color of the hat is even prettier with her new hair shade.

Hand puppets made of colored tapes, scraps of string and yarn are fun to play with, fun to make, for the convalescent child.

ANOTHER COMMANDMENT BROKEN—"The 11th Commandment at our church has been broken again," reports the Rev. H. B. Withers, pastor of the Parma-South Presbyterian Church in suburban Cleveland. Rev. Mr. Withers, right, posted the sign several weeks ago in the parking area behind the church to keep churchgoers' autos from scrambling the garden tools kept in this shed.

DOROTHY DIX

Miserly Dad Gives Nothing But Misery

Dear Dorothy Dix: I'm a miserable woman of 38, hoping you'll have a word of encouragement for me. All my life I've stayed home taking care of my parents. I never made friends, never went out, acquired no more education than the law required. Now my mother is dead, and I keep house for Dad. He won't do anything to fix up the house, won't even have enough heat in the place. I'm always cold. We don't have hot water though father could easily afford some of these comforts. I think conditions in the home did a lot to hasten my mother's death. People tell me I'm foolish to stay, but how can I break away after all these years? I have married slaves, with nice homes; I'd like one, too. If I leave my father, will I be sorry? I'm sure I could do something to earn my living, but wonder if I'd have regrets. I love my father, but can't do anything right for him. We can't even talk together, he wants nothing but to listen to the radio. How can I get him to fix up the place, give me a little more money and a warm room?

Dear Vicky: What makes you think you can succeed in something your mother failed at for almost forty years? If she couldn't separate your father from a nickel, what arguments do you think you could use? A miser doesn't need anything but money. Your father Channel 7 in Miami. "I gained the impression Mr. Hardy was extremely confident of his position," Knight said.

Knight Ends Testimony In response to Harris' questioning, Knight said he wasn't sure that he used the term "in the bag" in talking Katzentine later about the conversation with Hardy. Knight said Hardy seemed to feel he had three favorable votes on the FCC. Hardy has denied he claimed to have four FCC members "pledged."

Asked if Katzentine mentioned Richard A. Mack, recently resigned FCC member, Knight said "he seemed to be concerned about Mr. Mack."

Knight was excused after testifying about 15 minutes.

Four Arkansans Charged With Rape

POPLAR BLUFF, Mo. (UP)—Rape charges were to be filed today against four Delaplaine, Ark., youths accused of assaulting a 15-year-old Missouri girl Saturday night near Neelyville, Mo.

Shirley Leslie, Massingham said the four were held in the jail at Corning, Ark., "but were" to be brought here today to be charged. Massingham also listed the four as James Tucker, 20; Billy Joe Honeycutt, 22; William Honeycutt, 25; Billy Joe's brother, and Herman Vanpool, 17.

The Sheriff said the alleged attack took place near Neelyville when the four youths' car forced a car in which the girl was riding along with three other teenagers to the side of the road.

Massingham said the victim was pulled from the car and carried away in the attackers' auto.

Akins, who has been accused of lack of "enthusiasm." The answer is that, a pro since 1948, he just couldn't seem to reach the top. A new managerial staff has joined him into renewed efforts and he predicts that he will make it the best two out of three over Logart. The first time they met,
Akins won a split decision and the second time, Logart won unanimously.

Need Money
Akins, who has been 48 of 64
bouts, with 28 knockouts, started as a Golden Glover and turned pro in 1948 "to make some money." His father died when he was nine and he remembers his family
of 10 living in a three-room
flat. Laughs haven't been too plentiful in his life, but he recalls with a grin the first time he fought in the Garden.

"You ever been knocked out?"
the doctor asked.

"No," Akins replied.

"You ever been unconscious?"
the doctor pressed.

"Yes," he said and then, noting
the doctor's perplexed look, added: "I was kicked by a horse."

Logart doesn't have the "kick"
of a horse in either hand and the odds makers are counting on the Cuban's boxing skill. But Akins, who once chopped wood for a living, counts on chopping Isaac
down to size.

It's the opportunity of a boxing
lifetime for both of them.

Logart, Akins Fight Friday for Title Shot

TODAY'S SPORT PARADE
(Reg. U.S. Pat. Off.)
By OSCAR FRALEY
United Press Sport Writer

NEW YORK (UP)—Isaac Logart and Virgil Akins swap punches Friday night for a shot at the welterweight championship of the world and a chance to put childhood poverty behind them for good.

Both knew hunger and want when they were growing up—Logart in the Cuba sugar cane fields and Akins on the banks of the Mississippi.
Their $20,000
guarantees still stand as tremendous paydays for both of them.

But the winner of this 13-round semifinal elimination bout, made necessary when Carmen Basile gave up the welterweight title after winning the middleweight crown, figures to have it "made."

Logart is Favored

This, each figures, is the championship even though the winner must engage Vince Mandione for the title. Because neither Logart nor Akins has much regard for Jersey Vince, who drew a bye into the championship finals.

"This is it," says Logart, the 3-5 favorite. "It is a dream I have had since I watched Kid Gavilan fight in our home town of Camagueny, Cuba."

Necessity dictated a fighting career for Logart, 24, who is known as "El Lalligo" or "The Whip," because of the manner in which he snaps his punches. He was one of 14 children and there was little future wielding a bolo knife in the cane fields. He has won 4 bouts—19 by knockouts.

Akins, 30, is a St. Louis slinger who often has been accused of lack of "enthusiasm." The answer is that, a pro since 1948, he
just couldn't seem to reach the top. A new managerial staff has joined him into renewed efforts
and he predicts that he will make
it the best two out of three over Logart. The first time they met,
Akins won a split decision and the second time, Logart won unanimously.

Need Money
Akins, who has been 48 of 64
bouts, with 28 knockouts, started
as a Golden Glover and turned
pro in 1948 "to make some money." His father died when he was
nine and he remembers his family
of 10 living in a three-room
flat. Laughs haven't been too
plentiful in his life, but he recalls with a grin the first time he fought in the Garden.

"You ever been knocked out?"
the doctor asked.

"No," Akins replied.

"You ever been unconscious?"
the doctor pressed.

"Yes," he said and then, noting
the doctor's perplexed look, added: "I was kicked by a horse."

Logart doesn't have the "kick"
of a horse in either hand and the
odds makers are counting on the Cuban's boxing skill. But Akins,
who once chopped wood for a living, counts on chopping Isaac
down to size.

It's the opportunity of a boxing
lifetime for both of them.

Robertson Picked
Player of Year

NEW YORK (UP)—Oscar Robertson, the University of Cincinnati's 19-year-old whiz kid, today became the first sophomore ever to be chosen Basketball Player of the Year in the annual United Press poll.

In a vote of 251 sports writers and sportscasters, Robertson, the leading scorer in major college ranks, received 123 votes as the best player in the business (this season).

Elgin Baylor of Seattle was runner-up with 55 votes, followed by Dave Gambee of Oregon State with 12, Guy Rodgers of Temple with 10, Don Hennon of Pittsburg with 8 and Bailey Howell of Mississippi State with 5. Will Chamberlain of Kansas and Pete Branden of North Carolina each had four votes.

It was the second honor for Robertson: in the past week, Last Wednesday he became the third sophomore ever named to the United Press All-America team.

Montreal Shooter
Stalled at 34

MONTREAL (UP)— Montreal
sharpshooter Dickie Moore was stalled at 34 goals but picked up four assists during the past week to retain his lead in the National Hockey League scoring race.

However, Andy Bathgate of the Rangers and Henri Richard of the Canadiens, deadlocked in second place for the third straight week, were pressing hard. They each had 70 points, just three behind Moore, who is playing with a broken bone in his wrist. Gordie Howe of Detroit was fourth.

The Canadiens' Jacques Plante led the goalies with a 2.05 goals per game average and nine shutouts. Lou Fontinato of the Rangers had the most penalty time, 146 minutes, and the Canadiens had a leading team total of 901 minutes served.

Warriors Face a Jinx in Syracuse

SYRACUSE, N. Y. (UP)— The Philadelphia Warriors will be facing a tough jinx tonight when they meet the Syracuse Nationals in the decisive game of their semifinal series in the National Basketball Association playoffs.

The Warriors never have won a playoff game at Syracuse.

The Nationals may have to get along again without regular All-American forward, who injured his back in the opening playoff game and was forced to sit out the second contest. He is still taking heat treatments and must be regarded as a doubtful starter.

SUBSTITUTE FOR ORTEGA
HOLLYWOOD, Calif. (UP)—
Frankie Bionis of Wilmington, Calif., will meet Armando Zamora of Mexico in a 10-round main event Saturday night. Bionis will be substituted for Gaspar Ortega, who suffered minor injuries in an auto mobile accident last weekend.

What Happened to Buddy Young?

BY UNITED PRESS

Claude (Buddy) Young, a stubbly little sprinter, barely was tall enough to see over the line of scrimmage but he could run around it or through it with startling bursts of speed. He starred first at Illinois, where he led the team to a 45-14 Rose Bowl victory over UCLA in 1947, and was a big point-winner as a sprinter in track. Later he spent nine years as a pro in the All-American Conference and National Football League, winding up with the Baltimore Colts in 1955.

Whatever happened to Buddy Young? Today, at 31, he is a disc-ockey at a Baltimore radio station and a scout for the Colts.

Archer Plans to Protest Decision

NEW YORK (UP)— Welterweight Jimmy Archer planned to protest today to the State Athletic Commission against the split decision favoring Johnny Gorman after their TV fight at St. Nicholas Arena Monday night.

Mike Snyder, manager of New Yorker Jimmy, protested at the ringside to Dan Dowd, the commission's executive secretary. But Dowd told him to take his protest to Chairman Julius Helfand
today.

"That's exactly what I'll do," said Snyder. "It was impossible for Archer to lose after flooring Gorman twice in the early rounds and forcing the action throughout the fight."

However, a poll of six writers at the ringside, favored Gorman of Brooklyn, 4-2. The United Press had Gorman winning on a round basis, 5-3-2. Meanwhile, matchmaker Irving Cohen is trying to arrange a return bout at St.
Nick's in April.

Gorman, a 4-1 underdog, was floored once each in the first and second sessions; but he came on with long left jabs and sneaker rights to win the votes of referee
Ray Miller, 6-3-1, and judge Bill
Forst, 5-4-1. The other judge, Artie Schwartz, had Archer ahead, 5-4-1.

GETTING A GOOD LOOK—John Hegemann, seven months, takes a good look through his glasses at a doll almost as big as he is in his Chicago home. His mother, Mrs. Lawrence Hegemann, says John is pretty good about the glasses now, but he raised a fuss when he was fitted for them about a month ago. Every once in a while, she says, he tries to take them off and play with them, but even if he does get them off he's safe—they're shatterproof. John was fitted with glasses because his eyes, crossed at birth, were not straightening out satisfactorily.

CHAPTER XXXII

Lampkin phoned Central Bureau about the bankbook and Wren and that I had a theory about Wales. Then he said, "Dave Wintino, Detective Third Grade. Yeah, he made that maniac arrest. The Owens families called him last night and told him about the money. Why? Maybe because he has a trusting face. Come off it, Wally. On his own time he found out who gave Owens the check and why, saved you fellows a lot of legwork. Yeah, a real beaver. Says he has something on Wales, an idea, he wants to talk over. Midnight tour tomorrow. Sure, that's okay, he won't mind."

Lampkin hung up and stared at the phone for a moment as if in deep thought, then he looked up at me. "Call Detective Shavers at Central Bureau in the morning, around 10. He'll arrange to meet you. What's the matter with your face? Haven't you outgrown boils yet, or don't you know how to shave right?"

"Why, I . . . uh . . . well, sir, I was in a fight."

"I hear you're handy with your dukes. Remember we have several posts here in need of a tough beat cop," Lampkin said, drawing out each word the way he always talked, like it was an effort. He picked up the teletype report.

Downstairs, I remembered, I'd left my bag on his desk. I went back to his office, told him, "Excuse me, I left my coconut milk on your desk."

"As I picked up the bag he asked slowly, 'You what?'"

"Coconut milk," I said, half-talking the can out of the bag so he could see.

Lampkin looked sad and when I walked out I heard him mutter, "I was feeling tops when I reached the old apartment. I'd been so sure Lampkin was going to bust me for working alone."

Ma made a fuss over the cut on my face, crying I was back in the ring again. Then there were the unsaid comments about Mary. She had phoned her excuses, said she had to work late, but both Ma's and Pop's eyes asked me, "What kind of a wife have you got that she is ashamed of us?"

Ma brushed off the cut of voice but milk and despite it being a warm night she gave me the full treatment.

Pa kept right up with me, even had room to back away the desk-top-noodle paddling in front sure Pop turned on the TV while Ma and the dishes, and so Pa like a couple of slugs, doing off at an angle. Once Pop asked, "Dave, is everything all right with you and Mary?"

"The best. But you know how it is, little fights and . . . Naw, Pa, guess we aren't making it. She doesn't want me to be a cop. Wants me to take some dull job with her uncle."

"You think Mama and I don't tremble when we see a headline about a policeman hurt or shot? You should understand her view too."

"That isn't it. She has these phony standards—a desk job is good, any other job stinks. She'd rather have me an 'executive' than a police lieutenant. Know what kind of lanky job her Uncle Frank has for me? I should start in at 35 a week as a kind of strong-arm link."

The phone rang and Pa got it, said, "Yes, he's here. We were sorry you couldn't make it, tonight. . . . Yes, get some rest. The heat takes its toll. . . . Mama had a wonderful supper. Maybe next Friday. . . . I'll call him."

He put the phone down and came over to me. "Your wife is on the phone, David."

I picked up the receiver, asked, "Yeah, Mary?"

"Dave, I feel nervous, sorry. I . . . can you come home right away?"

"Sure, What's the matter?"

"Nothing really, except I have this feeling. Three times in the last hour the phone has rung and each time there wasn't an answer, not a sound."

"Nothing to get excited about. Could be a couple of wrong numbers, or something wrong with the phone."

"Dave, please come home. I may be silly, but each time I said hello, the more certain I was that somebody was listening. At the other end. The phone was too quiet. Please, Dave, I'm jittery."

"Okay, Babes. I'll leave now and be there within an hour. Make you feel better, go visit a neighbor and I'll pick you up there."

"No, I don't want to leave the apartment. I'm not the kind that goes up in the air but I have this terrible feeling, have it so strong, that something . . . eyll . . . is waiting outside. Just hurry home."

"Okay, sit tight and don't open the door for anybody but me. Try to relax."

When I tried to explain it to Ma she said, "What's the matter, she can't let us have you for a few hours?"

Pop said, "Such nonsense. Mary. And if his wife's nervous, no matter what the reason, what else should the boy do but rush home? Dave, pull us the moment you

U. S. Projects in State Total $21 Millions

LITTLE ROCK (UP)—The Army Corps of Engineers said Monday that nearly $21,500,000 in new projects are expected to be put under contract by June 30 in Southern Missouri, Arkansas and Northern Louisiana.

Of the jobs, about $250,000 will be for bank stabilization on the Arkansas river and $1 million for clearing and around the Table Rock Reservoir on the White river near Branson, Mo.

The engineers estimated new military construction in Arkansas as: Little Rock Air Force Base, $500,000; Blytheville AFB, $7,700,000; El Dorado Army Reserve Training Center, $100,000; Fort Smith Municipal Airport National Guard facilities, $1,200,000; Fayetteville Army Reserve Center, $250,000; Conway Army Reserve Center, $100,000; Walnut Ridge Air Force Station, $250,000; Camp Robinson, $25,000. Fort Smith National Cemetery, $20,000.

Included in the total estimate are the following jobs, for which bids have been received but contracts now awarded: Little Rock AFB, building and seeding, $105,000; Fayetteville National Cemetery, building and alterations, $15,000; Table Rock Reservoir, clearing, $157,000.

San Marino Names Two New Captains

REPUBLIC OF SAN MARINO (UP)—The Council of this postage stamp republic Monday night elected two new captains regent who will jointly run San Marino for a six-month term starting April 1.

The new anti-Communist majority in the Council named Christian Democratic Party Secretary Zaccaria Giovanni Savoretti and Independent Socialist Stelio Montironi as the new top executives. The Communists and left-wing Socialists cast blank ballots in protest.

The anti-Communist majority last year thwarted a Communist attempt to retain power through force which focused world attention on the Apennine republic.

reach your house." I said I would and was about to borrow cab fare but didn't want to know I was broke.

I had luck at the subway, an express was just pulling in. Thinking it over on the ride downtown I knew what had happened. Uncle Frank had phoned, said I hadn't gone overboard about the job, and this was Mary's way of needing me. She'd been mad because I went up to Ma's anyway.

Spaceman to Live Without Food, Water

CHICAGO (UP)—Space voyagers of the future may be able to live on other planets without eating, drinking or even breathing, if scientists are successful in developing a "synthetic nutrient."

Dr. James B. Edson, assistant to the Army's director of research and development, said "the space medicine people" are working "toward the development" of the nutrient.

It would be injected into the blood streams of space pioneers and enable them to make their celestial trip and survive on arrival at another planet.

Edson, writing in the Bulletin of the Atomic Scientists, forecast that man will send an unmanned space ship and possibly equipped with an atomic bomb, soaring to the moon in four years.

He predicted that manned trips to the moon would follow, with landings on Mars and other planets following within 10 to 15 years. To gain "protection from the hot sun, cold nights, cosmic rays and meteors," Edson said, the space voyagers would "probably establish headquarters on their first moon trip in a 'cave' or deep fissure."

As a result of these manned outposts in space, he said, a nuclear war would no longer have the same terrible potential as it does today.

"We can imagine a time," he added, "when the destruction of mankind on any single planet would be like the loss, in earlier times, of a city or a culture—a tragedy but not the end of everything."

Colorado Lashed By Snowstorm

The storm whipped out of Colorado where up to three feet of snow fell before it was replaced by clear, cold weather as the disturbance pushed eastward.

The snow and high winds were blamed for at least six deaths in Colorado, three of the victims killed in traffic crashes on slippery roads and three New Jersey residents killed when high winds caused their plane to crash near Bennett, Colo.

A three-foot snowfall occurred at Wolf Creek, Colo., and four inches covered Denver. Streets and highways in most of Colorado and Wyoming were icy and snow-packed Monday.

As it rolled eastward, the storm hit West Plains, Mo., with eight inches of snow and spread across parts of Kansas, Arkansas and Oklahoma. At least 41 schools and some rural industries in the Prairie states were forced to close down due to the snow.

A manned station on the moon, could forecast the earth's weather to an extent now impossible, says Dr. Donald H. Menzel, director of Harvard College Observatory.
